A: It seems that the problem is that your environment is set to UTF-16 I tried with Windows 10 x64 and the WinMFS library doesn't know the encoding. Beware: with a non-UTF-16 encoding everything is ok. Connect with Us Blog

Although school is a time of learning and exploration for children, there is also a period of adjustment to a new environment and a feeling that the world is a mysterious and alien place. For many children, this can be a difficult transition. Making sure that children can feel confident and accepted during this time can be a challenge for parents. The most important thing is to find ways of providing children with a consistent base of love and support, and demonstrating a positive role for parents in their children's lives. Summer can be an opportunity to extend connections and routines that we often take for granted during the year. This is a chance to do fun stuff with our children, to build their confidence, and to establish new activities and interests. But summer is also a time when parents and children are often more tired than usual. When adults are tired, it can be harder to communicate with their children and to be on top of children's desires and needs. Here are a few helpful ideas to make your summer happy, healthy and successful. When you start thinking about school holidays, you might think about how your children will make the transition from the summer holiday into their new school term. Many children can be as energised by going back to school as they were by the holidays. Will your children feel excited about returning to school? Will they feel confident about their new classmates and the new school year? How can you help them? It's the beginning of the school year. You can't wait to meet your children's teachers, be their first parent teacher help group, and to take part in the exciting new school adventure. But, before you do too much, it's important that you remember to just enjoy yourself. It is a precious time for your family, and it's important to enjoy the moment, rather than be busy all the time. Have you noticed any changes in your child's behaviour? Have you noticed any changes in their social life? Changes in mood? Your child may be going through some stress at home or at school. It's important to talk with them and with their teachers so that you can
